Dear Friends and Gardeners:

Another year finds us still growing and marketing daffodil bulbs. I am happy that I have my own healthy, acclimated stocks in many varieties of daffodils, as European prosperity has made more demand for Holland bulbs, and hence the prices have risen.

Our bushel mixtures are being offered at the same low prices as formerly, and we have even lowered the price of The First, an extremely prolific variety which has "outdone itself" so that we actually have a limited surplus of it. The varieties in our mixtures bloom over a period of four to six weeks and will naturalize well.

Sincerely,

(MRS.) SELINA L. HOPKINS

Cultural Directions Will Be Sent With Each Order

"I am sending another order for your lovely bulbs to help us enjoy spring at Lilac Hill. My grandchildren plant them for me and are so excited when each one shows." Mrs. W. P. O. Clarke, Annapolis, Md.

"It has been a few years now since I have ordered any of your beautiful bulbs but the Garden Club girls and I have pooled our resources and are going to have you ship us a couple of bushels. The ones I have ordered from you have been so lovely I could not think of ordering elsewhere." Mrs. H. A. Puttkamer, Lawton, Okla.

"I must tell you how perfectly beautiful my daffodils were this year. Each year they seem bigger and better. May I tell you again that you have not only afforded us great pleasure but my friends as well?" Mrs. Kenneth Knowlton, Freeport, Ill.

"Two years ago last fall I ordered some daffodils bulbs from you and at that time expressed my desire to secure varieties that would succeed in our Texas climate. You, at that time, expressed the belief that 'The First' would do well for us. This has proven to be true. This variety is now blooming in our yard and is most beautiful.

"I have two other varieties that are proving themselves suited to our situation, and I am eager to know their names in order that future orders may be made by me or my friends. One has only one bloom to the stalk. The other has three blooms to the stalk, and we think it is most beautiful. I plan to send by air mail specimens of each of these two, with the hope that you can identify them for me." C. W. Hall, Austin, Texas. (Our latest information from Mr. Hall indicates that other varieties which he recommends for the Texas climate from his experience are Golden Sceptre, Trevithian, and Silver Chimes. He requests the names of other varieties known to thrive in this hot, dry climate.)
